Roxbury Free Library

Accessing Us

Our website is the best place to start for accessing information about the RFL and our collection. You will find it to be a great resource for information about the library as well as the portal to our online catalog and your account. We do respond to email outside of our operating hours, but cannot guarantee how quick the response will be. We will get phone messages and respond to those only when the RFL is open. We prepare a monthly email newsletter about programs and services each month at the RFL. If you have an email account on your application you will be automatically enrolled in the newsletter contact list.

Accessing your Account

2V6SV000000 _ _ _

We are pleased to offer self-service options to your personal library account through our website and library catalog. To use the options click on the “Get Started!” button found on every page of our website. Alternatively, click “Log in to Your Account” in the upper right hand corner of the catalog page - (https://roxburyvt.aspendiscovery.org/?browseCategory=roxbury_new_fiction).

At this point you will be asked for your Login ID and Password. Your login ID will be your 14 digit account number, which can be found above. Your default password is your last name followed by the first letter of your first name; e.g., John Doe’s password – “DoeJ”. We recommend changing this default password the first time you login. To change your password click on the “change my password” link, enter your current password and then your new password and hit “submit” to save. Please note, you cannot change your login username ID. Once you are logged on there are many things you can do with your account.

What can you do with your account?

The “your summary” page will show items checked out, items on hold and any messages that the library may have for you. To renew all items that may be renewed simply click renew all or select renew on each line item. You may not be able to renew some items due to their being requested by other patrons or other renewal policies in place, like on inter library loans.

The “your personal details” page will show the information that the library has on your address, phone and email. To update this please contact the library staff. Every 2 years you will be asked to renew your account. We do this procedure simply to ensure we have up to date contact information for all of our patrons.

Under “your reading history” you will now be able to see your checkout history and the date the items were checked in at the library. This feature can be deactivated if you prefer.

Under “your purchase suggestions” there is a link to new purchase suggestions where you can request the library purchase an item not in the catalog. The library will then review the item to see if it will be purchased.

Under “your messaging” you can choose how the library communicates with you via email. You now have the option to receive emails when holds are filled, items are due, items are checked in/out as well as overdue notices. Simply click the boxes to select which emails you would like to receive and select how many days in advance you would like to be notified. You must have a valid email on file with us – please see us to have yours added. At this point we do not offer SMS messaging services Note: Overdue notices are automatically sent and will not be stopped.

Under “your lists” there is a link which allows you to keep your own private lists of items you wish to take action on in the future. Use this link to create a list name. Once you have created a list you can add items to it while searching the catalog. Simply click on “save to lists” in actions and choose which list.

While in the catalog you can also place items on hold by selecting “place hold” under the actions. Please note that you can only place items on hold at your home library, the RFL. Do not select the “next available” option for placing a hold. Talk to an RFL staff member about getting materials found at other libraries (or email RFL staff directly at librarian@roxburyfreelibrary.org).

In the catalog you can also save items to a cart. The cart function is simply a temporary gathering place to store items. You can then use this list to print, email or place a hold on the items. The cart will empty when you log out. You do not need to be logged in to use a cart.

Searching our catalog

You can access the RFL catalog for both our physical and electronic resources through our website. When you do a keyword search from the search box found on any page of our website you will be directed to our catalog interface. Conversely, you can bypass the website and go directly to the catalog page with this address - https://roxburyvt.aspendiscovery.org/?browseCategory=roxbury_new_fiction. The catalog provides you the ability to determine what materials we own and whether or not they are available for borrowing. Importantly, the catalog search from the RFL website will pull in results from all of the collections available with your RFL account, minus the Palace Project collection. The catalog provides you basic and advanced searching options to find the materials you are interested in. By default the search will pull from both the physical and digital RFL collections. You can limit the search results to include just materials you are interested in (e.g. print books, DVDs, ebooks, etc...). You will notice in the search field you can select from the other libraries that also belong to our consortium. If you find something another library owns and you would like to get that item, please contact the RFL staff to assist getting materials from the libraries in the consortium. If you ever have questions about using the search features please contact the RFL staff to assist you in locating specific materials.

Important RFL Policies

The Roxbury Free Library is overseen by a 5-person board of Trustees which is composed of publicly elected Roxbury residents. The Trustees normally meet once a month and develop policy to provide the overall structure for the operations of the RFL. Below is a few of the most relevant policies directly related to you as a new patron. The larger RFL policy catalog can be found here (<https://roxburyfreelibrary.org/policies/>).
